Tiger Legacy Foundation Building Community/Humanitarian Award

Basic Criteria:

1. The graduating senior has demonstrated meaningful efforts to serve and build community within the Lewis & Clark High School, or by engaging in service activities in the wider community during their high school years.
2. The graduating senior has plan to pursue continuing education or vocation in a "helping" profession.

A "helping" profession is a career centered on directly supporting individuals, families, or communities to improve their well-being, often through emotional, social, educational, or health-related assistance. These roles appear in fields like healthcare, social work, education, mental health, and community services, and focus on care, advocacy, guidance, and improving quality of life.

Post Award Accountability

It is expected that the award recipient will maintain ongoing communication with the Tiger Legacy Foundation regarding their post high school activities in "building community."

Award Process

1. Potential recipients must be nominated by another person. This can be a member of the school's administration, faculty, or staff, a relative, or a member of the wider community.
2. The person nominating will provide a description of the building community/humanitarian activities engaged in by the student.
3. The TLF board will review the nominations and determine that year's recipient.
4. The award will be announced annually at the Move-Up Con at end of each school year.
5. The award will be distributed by the Tiger Legacy Foundation. The foundation will supervise the grant award to determine whether awardees have fulfilled the award terms.
6. Grant awards to individuals will be made in accordance with procedures approved by the Internal Revenue Service:
    - The grant is used for study at an educational/vocational institution that normally maintains a regular faculty and curriculum and normally has a regularly organized body of students in attendance at the place where the educational activities are carried on.

- For these purposes, grant recipients need not be limited to degree candidates, nor must the grant be limited to tuition, fees, and course-required books, supplies and equipment. A recipient may use grant funds for room, board, travel, research, clerical help or equipment, that are incidental to the purposes of the scholarship grant.
